

Storyboard

JS-45

Name(s): Bev Doolittle

Date: _____ Period: _____

Bev Doolittle

_____

_____

_____

university / marriage to

Jay Doolittle

_____

_____

_____

photos start talking about the beginning of her career as an artist

_____

_____

_____

The Forest Has Eyes

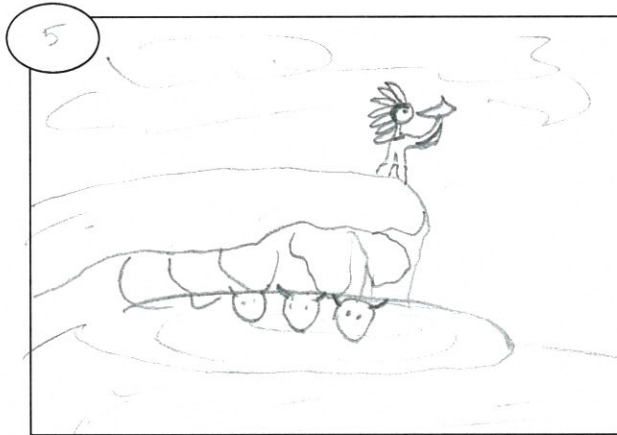

talk about camouflage act /

painting

_____

_____

_____

calling the buffalo

why, what she paints

_____

_____

_____

" I want people to think when they look at my paintings "

quote

conclude, where she is now

_____

_____

_____

Script Bev Doolittle

Bev's pic
3
college pic

- The artist Bev Doolittle was born on Feb 10, 1947 in California
- After graduating high school she attended college at the Art Center College of Design in LA, where she met her husband Jay Doolittle
- When she and Jay graduated college and were married they began working as art directors for an advertising agency in Las Vegas
- After working there for 5 years they quit and became mobile artists, which is when she started creating art

Escape By A Horse missed?
No Respect

- Bev Doolittle is best known for her realistic western scenes often featuring Native Americans, wild animals, and horses
- Most Western artists at this time used oil paint on their paintings, but Bev used watercolor on hers

Woodland Encounters
calling the Buffalo
The Forest Has Eyes

- she has become well known for using the camouflage technique, which means certain details of her art can be seen in more than one way
- One of her most well known camouflage paintings is "The Forest Has Eyes" If you look closely, you will see Native American faces hidden in the scenery

Doubled Back
Guardian Spirits
Two Indian Horses

- Bev Doolittle has long been interested in plight of the Native Americans and the environment, which she conveys through her art by painting Native Americans and <sup>the</sup> various landscapes and animals of the American West

Quote hide and seek area C

- Today, Bev lives with her husband in the highlands of California and is a well loved artist by many Americans