My Hero Project

11W38-10

A hero in my imagination and my thinking is someone with great personality and helps anyone in need. He or she is supposed to be patient and calm and would be willing to teach and share his experiences with you and teach you some key techniques to succeed in life.

My hero is Nagu Sunkara; he is my uncle and is currently working in California. He is one of the most inspirational people on my life. He unlike others thinks differently and has shown me a new path of life. He has given me values and virtues that I follow every day and from the point I have met him. I am so thankful that he is here with me and guides me every day. Every day he calls us and talks with me and asks me questions to so if I am good and do not have any lessons.

My art work contains many symbols including, a sun that represents how he guides me and gives me light. A square to show he is not a perfect square and not the best, but he works with other squares to make a bigger and better square. I put my symbols right around him to so that it shows how he is the center of the page and always gets attention where ever he goes.

My art work contains many types of art elements such as line, shape, texture, color and many other which all make up this big picture, where the elements mix up and show something, and that's what I was hoping for which I have accomplished. I feel like I had all of these elements and done a good job on my art work.

Overall I feel like my art work explains the personality of my hero and how he behaves and why he is a big part of my life, why I chose him. He is the one of the best and most influential people in the world. He takes you into a journey of adventure and helps me all the time. That's the reason he is my hero.

My journal entries

Jan 30th

Today we saw some of Delita Martin works and I liked how she uses many different things like sews paper on to her art work, uses fabric to create texture, prints on her artwork and uses all of these elements to make a big picture. It has great meaning and it shows so many elements, that's what I liked about her work.

Feb 3rd

I selected a Sun for my stencil to represent my uncle because it represents how he guides me and gives me light and he is bright as the sun. And it shows how great he is and always is helpful.

Feb 5th

The cut my stencil and it was fun, I liked how my stencil is looking and I am excited how this project is going to turn out. I am still planning to have a new other stencil and want many symbolic things in my art work for this project.

Feb 10th

Today we had to complete our contour drawing of our hero and I had worked on my contour today and I like how it is turning out.

Feb 12th

I printed my stencil and was ok, I wanted it to be more detailed but unfortunately it did not turn out as well as my expectation. I wanted to make it better next time and I decided to make a new one.

Feb 13th

My hero is the best and smartest person ever. He is much disciplined and nice to everyone he meets. He is a role model to me because of how he works and how he acts to others. He is really patient and calm and every work he encounters, he does it with perfection. He helps not only me, but everyone in my family and others. He is very generous and kind. That's the reason I chose the sun for my stencil because the sun help many people and gives advantage to the earth in many ways.

Feb 19th

Today I printed more of my stencils on my art work and I am done with printing stencils on my art work. Now I am cutting patterned paper for my hero's shirt.

Feb 20th

I printed more of my suns actually and I thought I was done but it realized that if there were more suns on his body it would look better give my art work more dept.

Feb 24th

Today I cut a checker design for the background, which is the other stencils I was planning at the beginning of the year. It also gives a repetition to the art work.

Feb 26th

Today I printed my checker board design onto my art work, it was looking great and I wanted to print a lot more of these and so I did. It took me a while but it looked fabulous and the meaning was great too. The meaning was that he is not a perfect square but he works with other square to make a bigger and better square.

March 3rd

Today I colored my background yellow and blue and dark blue to symbolize a creative sky and is always on top of things. I also started to charcoal my hero too.

March 5th

Snow Day

March 6th

Today I have charcoaled my hero and it is looking really good, I have to make more adjustments though.

March 12th

Today I have charcoaled and I am almost done with it. Because of PARCC we had lost a lot of time and that's the reason there is a big time jump.

March 17th

I charcoaled my paper more and now it is kind of is off with the facial features but I will try to fix it and do my best.

March 19th

Today I added more charcoal to my art work and it is looking better, I fixed my nose but the mouth is looking a little odd.

March 20th

I charcoaled my hero and improved mu drawing. I would like to sew a background onto my art work, but then I decided to not do that because I think it would ruin the art.

April 2nd

Today I worked more on my hero's face and charcoaled and added more detail. I think I need to add a little more charcoal and darken up his face so that he stands out more. I think if I work harder I can make him look more realistic.

April 3rd

Today I charcoaled my hero and he is looking really good, I had worked a little harder than I did last time and it worked. I wish I added more charcoal today but unfortunately I ran out of time.

April 7th

Today I added more charcoal and darkened my uncle look, he is standing out more and is better, My friend had helped me today and I am pleased that he had helped me, he gave me great tips like darken my hero's shirt and cover up the stencils. This helped me make the sweater of my hero more detailed.

April 9th

Today I charcoaled my hero and it is turning out to be great and just about to be done, I just need to add finishing touches and correct some of the mistakes It will be looking great.

April 10th

Today I have charcoaled my hero, and he is looking more like him. My friend had helped me again today and I might finish next class and I am looking forward to do that.

April 14th

Today I decided to add more touches and make his facial features like his teeth look better and I worked and did not finish my hero tough.

April 16th

Today I charcoaled my hero and I am done today and couple of my friends had finished to and there works are great too. They had done a great job and I am glad I had finished the project.
